To Revisit Gettysburg.
Soldiers in Wisconsin who participated in the battle of Gettysburg are to be given an opportunity to revisit the field in July on the fiftieth anniversary of the battle. The Wisconsin assembly has passed the bill which appropriates $10,000 to pay the railroad fare to Gettysburg and return of the survivors in this state who waited to Gettysburg half a century ago. Pennsylvania and the government will provide meals and tents without cost. Each veteran will have a cot and needed blankets, and can choose his tent mate. The program of exercises has not yet been promulgated.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.
Plainfield Girl Drops Out of Sight and Leaves No Clue.
Stevens Point Journal:—On Monday evening of last week, a fourteen-year-old adopted daughter of H. A. Law of Plainfield, bid her father good night and went to her room, supposedly to retire. That was the last Mr. Law saw of his daughter, for the next morning, on going into her room, he found the window open and the girl nowhere to be found. She had disappeared without leaving a semblance of a clue as to where she had gone, taking only a few clothes with her.

In a letter received by Chief of Police Hafsos, Monday, Mr. Law stated that he had adopted the girl from a Methodist home at Woodstock, Ill., three years ago, and that they were removed to Plainfield a year later. So far as he knew she had never kept company with any man and at no time had she indicated that she intended leaving. He states that she was without money, which leads him to believe that she was given outside assistance. The description furnished by the state and sheriff's throughout, the state is that she has blue eyes, rather light brown hair, is about five feet and three inches in height, and quite fleshy weighing nearly 150 pounds. She wore a red sweater, white scarf and blue and brown dress, took with her, were the clothes she had least those.

Mr. Law also states that she might possibly assume the name Vera Rinds. Any information in regard to the missing girl's whereabouts will be thankfully received by her father or by Chief of Police Hafsos.

MARRIED AT STEVENS POINT.
Former Grand Rapids Boy Joins the Ranks of Benedict.

Stevens Point Journal:—A simple but very pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mrs. E. G. Rosier, 322 Pine street, at high noon today when her sister, Miss Cora Johnson, became the bride of Earl Kellogg, Price of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. Rev. E. Croft, pastor of the church of the Intercession, performed the ceremony, using the ring service, and the attendants were Miss Viola Reesler and Frank Eerman.

Mr. and Mrs. Price left on the afternoon train for Neenah, where they will be guests at the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Jensen. They will return to this city the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Price is a graduate of the local high school, class of 1911, and also attended the Normal. Since last fall she has successfully taught school at Neenah. She is a bright and charming young lady, whose every acquaintance is a friend, and the very best wishes of all of those for a long life of happiness are hers.

Mrs. Price is a graduate of the Grand Rapids high school, class of 1909, and is an electrician by trade. He is serving a four-year term of enlistment in the United States navy being recently stationed on the battleship Florida, to which he will report for duty next week, after a leave of absence of several weeks. He will complete his naval service in July, when he will be joined by his wife in New York city. They have not decided definitely as to where they will reside.

Among those present at the wedding were the groom's mother, Mrs. J. H. Price of Neenah; his sisters, Mrs. M. G. Smart of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Charles Jensen of Neenah, and the former's two children.

The Beacon Lights Entertainment.
On Monday evening, April 21st, the ladies of the Beacon Light Club entertained a few of their friends at a six o'clock dinner at the Wood County Training school building. Covers were laid for thirty in the drawing room, and the long table was prettily decorated with vines and ferns, in harmony with the general character of the room.

The guests assembled at about 6:15 o'clock, and they found their places they also found one of a familiar verse, with a request in the verse which was done in a most amusing way.

During the courses and at the close of the meal, Mrs. Clark presided as toastmistress in her usual pleasing manner.

In the absence of the retiring president, Mrs. Looze, a brief outline of "The Past" of our club was given by Mrs. Linderman. Miss Emma Schnabel, the new president, then gave a very earnest talk on her ideas of the duties of the members, and asked for the hearty co-operation of all for "The Future."

Mrs. Drumb then welcomed "The Guests," and in a few well chosen words expressed the general pleasure of the club at having them there. Mrs. Jackson then explained to the satisfaction of all why the "Missing Girl" were so conspicuous for their absence. "The Coming Club Members" was the subject of Mrs. Schwede's toast, and all present felt that much light had been let in on a serious problem. Mrs. Schlatterer refused to say anything against "The Irish" and stated that as there was so much to be said for them, that it was hardly worth while to try it, in the short time allotted to her. Mrs. Raymond then made it very plain to the ladies that "Club Work" was a necessity to every woman, and how it could be managed, without neglecting the babies or the family wash.

The question of "The Tenderfoot" was taken up by Mrs. Baldauf, in a very amusing little sketch of her experiences since coming to Grand Rapids.

The last toast called for was responded to by Mrs. Weeks, and was an appropriate and fitting tribute to "Our City Beautiful."

The ladies then adjourned to the upper room, and after a short time spent in social converse, departed for their homes, declaring that in their opinion the club was rightly named, as they were indeed bright and shining lights, in the art of entertaining.

Paper Company Sued.—William and Leo Able have started an action in circuit court against the Marathon Paper Mills company for damages alleged to have been suffered because of the breaking of the dam at Rothschild last July, the water flooding their farm and depositing logs and other debris thereon as well as destroying crops. The amount they seek to recover is $1,165. The company in its answer sets forth that the cause of the flood was beyond its control; that every precaution had been taken, the dam being of the best material and built in the best possible manner. It also stated that the flood was caused by the dam at Brokaw, and further that the damage resulting to Able Brothers was caused by the forces of nature and not by negligence on the part of the company.

"FRECKLES"

The Real Dramatic Hit of The Season.

A. G. Delamater's Beautiful Scenic Production.

Guaranteed identical to New York Production. Dramatized by Neal Twomey. Music by Nathaniel Freidland from the book by Alene Stratton-Porter.

The trouble, time and expense necessary in staging a dramatization of some popular novel, must be understood to be thoroughly appreciated. It is a hard task, and there are but a few who have possessed the stamina to bring the work to a successful issue. When it became known that the wonderful popularity of "Freckles" was an absolute truth, there were a number of New York producing managers, who straight-way wanted the dramatic rights to Gene Stratton-Porter's story of the Limerlost, managers who rank at the very top as producers. We authors and copy-right owners of books however, such popularity as this one, are slow to give award. Mrs. Porter knew of the motto of the Delamater firm: "Producer of clean plays," and as this is her ideal of what a story or play should be,—always clean and wholesome, as is attested throughout all her works; Delamater got the rights. Who then to dramatize "Freckles"? That was the question, for to be real dramatic worth a book play must stick to the text of the story in both word and deed, and this requires more than a playwright; it requires a knowledge of stage intricacies thrown in; Neil Twomey was the man, and he went to work diligently; he succeeded, even above the hopes of Delamater. Point number two.

What is the secret of success of "Freckles"? Its simplicity. There are no characters in modern fiction nor on the stage endowed with such simple nobility and wonderful sweetness as Freckles and his sweetheart "The Swamp Angel." Mrs. Porter has studied nature, she has lived all her life in the great Limerlost Swamp region of Indiana, studying it and writing about it. She has achieved a position which can be disputed by none; her fiction and her play reaches the height of popular demand.
